Ice Cream Social

By Heather Walker

On Thursday, August 14th several members gathered at Beth Marie's Ice Cream shop for a social event. Upon arrival, they were placed into the pre-determined teams and sent out on a photo/video scavenger hunt around the Denton Square. Some of the objectives to be completed were to take a group picture with a super hero, take a picture of the entire teams reflection in something other than a mirror, to video of a team member pole dancing on a street sign, and a picture of a team member planking somewhere on the square...just to name a few.

The team who completed the most objectives and earned the most points won. The winning team will be announced at the luncheon this month. Following the hunt everyone enjoyed a scoop of ice cream, while looking at the pictures and videos taken by the various teams, everyone was laughing, conversing, and having a good time. We had a decent turn out for the social event and I believe a good time was had by all. We hope another hunt can be planned in the future in which more members can attend, by which will allow for more teams and new objectives.

See event pictures on pages 4 - 6.

President's Message

By: Kim Guertler

I have always loved the month of August. I know many of you are shaking your heads at that statement since it is often one of the hottest months we have, but it has always held a tinge of excitement to it to me. School starts back up, Fall is just around the corner, and of course, it marks the beginning of football season! This August, however, has also held an element of sadness. The passing of Tom Jester will leave a void in not only the legal community, but the entire Denton community, as well. I first became aware of Mr. Jester after I obtained my first job at the age of 18 at First American Title Company, and Mr. Jester owned Denton County Title Company, which was a fixture in Denton. After I left the title company and came to work for the District Attorney's office, I continued to see and interact with Mr. Jester in the Courts Building. I did not have one encounter with Mr. Jester where he was not courteous, professional and kind. He will be missed by all.

Now there was some fun in August that I must mention. Our Social Committee put on a great event for us! We met at Beth Marie's on the square and then participated in a fun, challenging and many times embarrassing scavenger hunt around the square. It definitely made us get out of our comfort zone, but what stood out to me was how friendly the people in our community are! In order to complete the hunt, we had to interact with complete strangers many times. They were not only willing to help out, but many were active participants. So many thanks go out to our Social Committee for a fun and original event!

As we all know, the year is quickly flying by and before you know it, we will be getting ready for our October business meeting and the election of new DCPA officers for 2015. If you haven't served on the Executive Committee or as a Committee Chair, please give it some serious thought for next year. It is a lot of fun and well worth the time investment. I will write about this more next month, but please give some thought to where your gifts might benefit the DCPA.

Please plan to attend our luncheon next Thursday, August 28, at noon at Oakmont Country Club. Kim Tindall with Kim Tindall & Associates in San Antonio will be our speaker and she will speak to us regarding depositions and document preparation. I am hoping for a great turn-out! Kim has always been supportive of paralegals and paralegal associations so let's throw some support back her way, plus she is going to provide us with some great information. Hope to see you there!

Tom D. Jester, Jr.

From the Denton Record-Chronicle
Published August 12, 2014

Tom Davis Jester, Jr., of Denton, Texas, after a twelve year battle with pancreatic cancer, died August 9, 2014, surrounded by family. He was born in Ashdown, Arkansas, to the late Tom Davis Jester and Evelyn Sessions Jester on February 2, 1940. Tom graduated from the University of Arkansas with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and obtained his law degree from SMU.

In 1967, Tom moved to Denton to practice law with Fred Minor in the firm now known as Minor & Jester, P.C. His law firm has received numerous awards including "Best of Denton" in the Denton Record Chronicle for the past three years. His daughter Jill Jester continues to practice law with four other attorneys at Minor & Jester, P.C.

A leader in his profession and the community, Tom served as Mayor of the City of Denton from 1975-1976 and as a Denton City Council Member from 1972-1976. Tom was President of the Denton County Bar Association and a Fellow of the Texas Bar Foundation. He also served as a City of Denton Municipal Judge and a Corporation Judge. Outside of the law, Tom sat on the Board of Directors of a title company and a local bank. He was a former Director of the Denton Chamber of Commerce and of the Denton Country Club. Tom was a developer, owner and operator of apartment complexes, office and commercial buildings as well as rental residential homes in and around Denton. His daughter, Angie Jester Sahm, and his brother, Tim Jester, predeceased him. Tom was a loving father, husband, uncle, and friend to all.

Our heart and prayers go out to Mr. Jester's family, friends and our fellow paralegals who worked with Mr. Jester.

In The Know

Talking with: Vicki Schmidt

Employed by: Loveless & Loveless, Attorneys at Law, LP

Years' experience: 12

What made you want to become a paralegal? I found the law interested me; I had already raised my kids and needed a job to help pay for their college. I decided to take a 9 month Paralegal course from the Southeastern Paralegal Institute. I realized how much I liked legal research and worked with the school placement office to get an interview at Loveless & Loveless. I've been with the same firm the entire time.

What type of law does your attorney practice? Family Law*

* Vicki also noted that, of the four people who work in the firm, none has been divorced.

How many paralegals are at your current firm? There are two of us; Carolyn Granger is the other paralegal in the firm.

What was it like being a new paralegal?* I felt prepared after going through the institute. Fortunately, I was mentored by several other Paralegals from other companies who worked in my building. One of the stipulations I had was to continue my education so I could become a Certified Paralegal.

* Vicki commented that when she first started interviewing for a paralegal position, she wasn't sure Family Law would be to her liking, however, she soon realized the position is a lot like raising children – you must console them when they are hurt, calm them down when they are angry, and make them turn in their homework on time – and that she already had 20 years of experience doing!

What is your advice to new paralegals? If you don't understand your task completely ASK QUESTIONS! You don't want to guess and find out later that you have to redo the entire assignment. Keep educating yourself; reading the materials your attorney brings back from CLE classes is a good way to learn new things. Don't be discouraged if a job requires experience. Sometimes the attorney's want to change the new paralegal their way without having to undo previous habits, so they are more open to a baby paralegal.

To which paralegal organizations do you belong? I belong to DCPA and NALA (National Association of Legal Assistants). I was certified by NALA and participated in study groups and used the NALA study guide. I studied for 6 months before sitting for the test.

How do you relax after a tough day at work? I like to read non-legal fiction and I like to garden. I used to be into decorative art and furniture (my house is full of my finished projects). I play with my dogs, a teacup Yorkie & a cute All American Terrier mutt.

Special Note: As you may remember, Vicki lost her husband of 36 years to cancer earlier this year. She misses him every day but the friends she has made at DCPA have kept her spirits up, and she is grateful for that.
